

Bio – Sean Takada

Sean Takada, age nine, began playing the violin at age 4 and six months with Suzuki method. He currently studies violin with Bettina Mussumeli at San Francisco Conservatory Music Preparatory Division. He became the youngest first violin player of El Camino Youth Symphony at age of 6. Sean was selected to play in the Master Class by Ian Swensen, one of the most famous artists in the Bay Area, in 2009. Besides music, Sean loves soccer. His team won “Champion” in U10 Nor Cal Premier Gold Division 2010 fall. He is fluent in Japanese and Spanish. Sean is a fourth grader at Mariano Castro Elementary school in Mountain View.